Are You Afraid of the Dark?

Cardboard Campfire Craft

Tools

- 3 empty toilet paper rolls
- 2 empty paper towel rolls
- medium cardboard box
- campfire template
- coloring pencils or crayons
- tape or glue stick

NOW AVAILABLE ON DVD

Instructions

1. Cut a small slit in the top of one of the paper towel rolls -- about an inch long.
2. Paint the paper towel and toilet paper rolls with brown paint. Let dry.
3. While they are drying, print out the campfire template and color it in with crayons or colored pencils.
4. Cut carefully along the edges of the campfire and glue or tape it to a side of your cardboard box.
5. Cut carefully around the edges again, making the fire nice and sturdy.
6. Once the "logs" are dry, use the thin black marker to create grain lines on them.
7. Arrange the empty toilet paper and paper towel rolls to look like campfire logs.
8. Place your fire inside the campfire log with the slit to finish off your campfire

Instructions

- Split and roll fondant into 12 balls about $\frac{3}{4}$ " in diameter.
- Press with your wax stamper to make them look like a wax seal. (If they stick to the stamp too much refrigerate the balls for a few minutes)
- Using the butter knife or fondant shaper to shallowly cut the letters TMS into the seals. (Adults should do this for younger children)
- Set seals aside.
- On a plate place 3 graham cracker halves topped with 3 rectangles of milk chocolate and a marshmallow. Microwave for 15 seconds. (Optional: An adult can use a kitchen torch to carefully brulee the sides of the marshmallow for more of a campfire feel.)
- Top with other graham cracker halves.
- Place fondant seals on the top graham cracker halves.
- Repeat with remaining ingredients.
- Enjoy!
